

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, November 28. 1724.

Rome, November 4.

His Holiness followed under a Day without visiting Churches and Hospitals. On Sunday last he went to the Hospital of the Lateran Church, where having caused some Quills and Pillows to be brought before him, he enjoyed the Overseeing of that Hospital to procure the like for their Sick. Afterwards he viewed the Dispensary and the Kitchen, and not finding them provided with all the Necessaries, he dismissed the Prior, and gave Orders that each Sick should have half a Pound of Meat allowed them every Day at least. The Holy Father seeing at the same time a Woman shedding abundance of Tears for her dying Son, he went to see him, and gave him with his own Hand some light Biscuits steeped in Wine, which had such an Effect upon the Sick Youth, that there is now great Hopes of his Recovery. When the Pope delivered to the Abbot Banchieri the Staff of Governour of Rome, he exhorted him earnestly not to oppress the People, and to weigh and consider maturely the Circumstances of the Delinquents before he inflicts Punishments upon them, though otherwise he ought to be severe to the Malefactors; telling him withal, that he himself, when Archbishop of Benevento, found such a Way of Proceeding most expedient: But above all he recommended to him to administer Justice im-partially; not to take Bribes, and only to be guided by Piety and Prudence, seeing he is now invested with the most important Post which he had to bestow at that Time. The said, that the Prelate after such an unexpected Exhortation looked somewhat perplexed. Sig. del Giudice, whom the Pope has appointed Governour of Cambrasia, is to set out very soon thither, to be present at the Evacuation of that Place.

Dartmouth, Nov. 24. Came in the Mary and Anne, the Mary, and Elizabeth, all three from Newfoundland.

Weymouth, Nov. 25. Came in the Unity from the Canaries.

Bristol, Nov. 25. This Day came in the Charming Nelly from Antegoa; Oldbury from Newfoundland; and the Greyhound from Carolina.

Deal, Nov. 25. This Morning came in the Rebecca from Alicant; and Sea-Horse from Virginia.

Deal, Nov. 26. Came in His Majesty's Ship Greyhound from New York; William and Elizabeth from St. Christopher's; and Pricket from St.
Ubes.

Gravesend, Nov. 25. Passed by the following Ships, Clifford, Elizabeth, Anne, and Hynd, from Malaga; Antelope from Firo; and Elizabeth and Welcome George, both from Virginia.

London, November 28.

We have Advice by Ships arrived from Can-no in Nova Scotia, that there has been a very great Fishery this Season; but the People of that Colony have been under terrible Apprehensions of the Indians, who last Spring committed great Cruelties in those Parts; and notwithstanding the Vigilance and indefatigable Endeavours of Major Cosby, Commander of His Majesty's Forces there, yet the Fishermen were going off, and all the Ships without half their La-ding, leaving many Thousand Quintals of Fish to perish. had good publick News. Ship Ludlow-Castle, Capt. John St. Lo Commander, luckily arrived the 23d of August last to their Relief, and then the Fishery went on again with Vigour; for nothing but the Appearance of a Ship of War could have reviv'd and kept that Fishery. Captain St. Lo was very diligent by employing himself daily in doing good Services for their present Security, and has put the Garrison in such a Posture of Defence, by repairing the Fort and other Works, that they now seem to be under no great Fear of those barbarous Enemies the Indians, especially since a Body of them, who were incited thereto, and lay ready to attack them, were deterred by his particular Management. It is hoped this Fishery will increase, and become a Check to a neighbouring People, who use all imaginable Artifices to dislodge us, that they may reap the Profit to themselves: This is obvious to all His Majesty's Subjects in America that use this Trade, which is so much to the Advantage of the Crown of Great Britain; and therefore it is hoped it will be supported in Spite of all Opposers.

London, Nov. 28, 1724.

The Poll last Night stood thus,

Sir Richard Hopkins, 1239

Mr. Goodfellow, 1248

Nov. 28, 1724.

Whereas it has been asserted in the Daily Post and Daily Journal of Yesterday, that five Persons were introduced the Day before by a Middlesex Justice, to Poll for Sir Richard Hopkins, three, of whom were detected to have no Right: This is to satisfy the Citizens that the same is absolutely false.

That a Gentleman in the Commission of the Peace for Middlesex, did then accompany to Guildhall Twenty Two Livery-Men of the City of London, who did Poll for Sir Richard Hopkins, is true; but that the Persons said to be detected, and alleged to be of his Company, is a malicious Falshood, for Two of those Three who are said to have offered to Poll, upon Examination appeared to be only By-Standers, and were therefore immediately di-charged by the Worthy Aldermen mentioned in the said Advertisement, and Mr. Alderman Child. The other Person who offered to Poll, declared he was not of that Justice's Company.

Whether he was hired by any Person to act this base Part, in Order to cast a Reflection, is left to the Judgment of the Citizens.

N. B. The Eleven following Persons have been already committed for False Polling for Mr. Goodfellow, viz.

John Amey.

Another who would not tell his Name,

Aquilar Smith,

Isaac Williams,

John Brown,

John Gaffen,

John Robins,

Richard Cox,

William Simms,

Jere. Benner,

alias Broxup,

alias Baldwin,

alias Bradshaw,

Thomas Lawrence.

SIR, London, Nov. 28, 1724.
In order to discountenance all unwarrantable Declarations, against a Majority on the Poll, and the scandalous Practice of false Polling, Your Poll and Interest are desired for

Sir RICHARD HOPKINS, Kt. Alderman and Turkey Merchant, and Cutler,

Who is zealously affected to his most Excellent Majesty King GEORGE, his Illustrious Family, and our most happy Constitution in Church and State, a steady Assertor of the real Rights and Privileges of his Fellow-Citizens, a Promoter of the Trade and Welfare of this City, and a great Exporter of our Manufactures.

This Gentleman had the Majority of Hands in the Common-Hall, and was accordingly declared by the Sheriffs.

N. B. A Set of Men, having no other Reflection to make,
But that Sir Richard Hopkins has the Care of the Citizens' Interests and Properties, as a Director of the South-Sea Company, it is ~~very~~ did not remember, That Mr. Goodfellow, of the Russia Company And then it may be fit for Citizens to think, Whether greater Care ought not to be taken of their Interests and Properties in the South-Sea Company, than that of the Russia Company.

If Sir Richard Hopkins had taken up his Freedom of a Company, to serve a Purpose, he would no Doubt have been published as a Designing Gentleman, and a Stranger to the Rights of the Citizens.

But neither Sir Richard Hopkins, nor his Friends, would have defended to make these Remarks, if the poor In-firmations in the Bill handed about for Mr. Goodfellow, did not make it necessary. And it could not well be imagined that they should so soon receive ungrateful Returns for their late Service to Mr. Thomas Jackson, Brother to Mr. Goodfellow, in his Election to the Office of Town-Clark.

Note, The Poll begins again this Morning, at Eight of the Clock, and concludes at One.

SIR, Saturday, Nov. 28, 1724.
You are desired to meet this Day, at the Hours of Ten, Eleven, and Twelve of the Clock, at Salter's-Hall, in Swishin's-Lane, near Cannon-Street, several Worthy ALDERMEN, Merchants, and other Liverymen of this City, in order to proceed from thence to Poll for

Sir RICHARD HOPKINS, Kt. Alderman, Turkey-Merchant, and Cutler.

To be one of the Representatives of this City, in Parliament.

Pray bring or send your Friends of the Livery to the said Hall.

N. B. The Poll will finally conclude this Day at One a Clock.

SIR, Saturday, Nov. 28, 1724.
